PEOPLE SUMMONED TO CELEBRATE THE END OF THE WAR. STREETS WERE THRONGED

In answer to a summons from the whistles of town at midnight Saturday fully ten thousand people assembled on the streets to pay tribute to the ending of the war. It was but a brief time after the people had been summoned until there was a spectacular parade moving along the avenues Fully fifty automobiles were in line filled with passengers and many of them decorated. The allied flags were floating in the breezes, followed by bands. Hundreds of men women and children rushed from their homes as the whistles kept up a continuous blowing. Many came out half clad, little boys could be seen along the curb tieing their shoes and most of the populace rushed out arranging their clothes as they moved along the streets Official news of the ending of the war however was lacking and finally all settled down to await the coming of the midnight edition of the city papers. When the train pulled in, a mob gathered about the news carriers and for some time they were not permitted to move Angry words were passed and finally the boys rushed away from the crowd only to meet a bigger one down the street farther. "Give us news" seemed to be the slogan everywhere but there was no news. This is the way the excitement was kept going until most people either went home uninformed or resolved to await the outcome.

People were disappointed Sunday morning when the city papers brought the news that there was no change in the war situation, but that a little more German propaganda had been spread over the world

CELEBRATION TURNS TO CAMPAIGN

Hearing a rumor of unconditional surrender by Germany shortly after Saturday midnight, citizens of Vandergrift turned out enmasse and held one of the largest celebrations in the history of the town. The celebration lasted until 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Whistles were blown and bells were rung continually during the rejoicing.

Disregarding the Sunday ban on gasoline, the people formed a large automobile parade, which traversed the streets of Vandergrift and Apollo The parade ended in the burning of the kaiser's effigy on the main street of Vandergrift. When it was discovered that the peace rumor was false, the citizens changed the celebration into a Liberty Loan drive. Booths were placed on the principal streets and thousands of dollars worth of Liberty bonds were sold

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC IS ABATING

The epidemic of influenza has subsided somewhat in eastern states, but continues to spread in the middle and far west. On the basis of meager reports received today, officials of the Public Health Service Bureau were optimistic that the stringent measures taken, such as closing schools, churches, theatres and forbidding public gatherings, generally had begun to show a beneficial effect.

The office of the Surgeon General of the army made no statement today as to the situation in the army camps, but reports to the Public Health Service told of subsidence at Chillicothe, Ohio, the site of Camp Sherman, and at Louisville, Ky., where Camp Zachary Talyor is located.

CELEBRATED LECTURER TO BE HERE

Monessen will have an opportunity of hearing one of the world's celebrated orators on Tuesday, Oct. 23, at the High school auditorium, when Arthur Walwyn Evans will appear as the first number of the 1918-19 entertainment course of the Board of Trade

The subject of Mr. Evan's lecture is "What America Means to Me." This is considered his greatest lecture. He tells us in plain, fearless terms what is wrong with us here. But happily, optimistically and convincingly, he also tells us what is right with us It will stir your patriotism, and send fifes and drums marching through your soul. You will go home prouder, but chestier Mr. Evans draws upon his personal contact and acquaintance with Premier Lloyd George. Rudyard Kipling, Conan Doyle and other famous Englishmen, in the course of his lecture. The lecture is a message to our own time, and is in a great part the stirring record of a life's own experience.

The tickets to the course this season are selling for only one dollar each for adults and 60 cents for school children, and the ticket campaign begins today. Everybody should buy a season ticket, for the numbers of the course are double the money. Private Gordon Ross comes next month, then follows the Montague Light Opera company and Gay Zenola Maclaren, the famous genius in imitative recitals of famous plays.

A False Alarm

The parties responsible for throwing Monessen into a panic of excitement early Sunday morning deserve the censure of the public at large. There was no occasion for such a wild demonstration and the people who participated in it are not to be censured for they were led into a false belief by the shrill whistles that summoned everybody from their homes in a wild hallucination, that the war had ended. Coming down town people rushed to the police station for information; they rushed to telegraph offices and they asked everyone for some source of assurance that the war was actually at an end. No one knew anything; and yet the whistles were still blowing and people were rushing from their homes over the hills pell mell, and in a few minutes there was a mass of humanity on the down town streets. Not a bulletin was posted; not the slightest source of information and yet the people were called out to celebrate the ending of the war This paper censures such thoughtlessness regardless of its origin.

Now for a suggestion. Until America and her allies accept the terms of the enemy; until Germany either throws up her hands and lays down arms, or until such times as there is word from our government that the war is ended, let the whistles be stilled and the people remain in the hope that there will be no peace until Germany has been punished for her wrongs to humanity and until our government says the war has ended. The war is not over and those who summon the people to participate in a general jubilee should be very careful that they have cause for so doing, and that the information is of an official nature. The news the Sunday papers brought, reversed the order of things and demonstrated that our people had been "fooled" to false belief.

CHARLEROI SCHOOLS OPEN

Charleroi schools which were closed last week on account of the order from the state board of health regulating the suppressing of influenza, opened this morning under regulations ordered by the Charleroi health board. Scholars are to march in and out single file and at no closer distance than arms' length of each other. Pupils of different rooms are not to be allowed to mingle with each other, and all rooms are to be well ventilated.

PENITENTIARY QUARANTINED

The new Western penitentiary in Rockview is under quaratine on account of the epidemic of Spanish influenza—not that there is any scramble on the part of the public to get in or any likelihood of the inmates getting out before their time, but merely as a precaution against the disease invading the institution. The quarantine is effective against all visitors and all mail for the penitentiary is thoroughly fumigated.

EVERYTHING CLOSED BUT MANY GET DRUNK JUST THE SAME--FINES WERE IMPOSED

Burgess Stewart had a rather busy court this morning, there being a number of cases having developed as a result of taking on too much of that which dulls the senses and is, in many cases followed by a decidedly large head. After disposing of a number of minor cases of intoxication and fines being assessed, several other cases were heard.

Walter Becker of 817 Schoonmaker avenue, was arrested Saturday night in a restaurant charged with disorderly conduct It appears according to Becker, that he had ordered some sandwiches at the counter, and they had not yet been served when he was called to the door to transact some business with his wife. He stated the proprietor of the restaurant ran and pulled him back into the restaurant, charging him with refusing to pay for the sandwiches. Two officers were called by the disturbance and Becker was placed under arrest. Evidence showed that Becker was not intoxicated and the restaurant proprietor not appearing, there was no evidence that he had refused to pay for his service, and did pay for same and took them to the police station with him. He was ordered to pay the costs, $2.25.

Andy Protoskey, living on the alley near Second street, was arrested by Constable Watts Saturday night and tried by Burgess Stewart on a disorderly charge. Evidence showed he was intoxicated and used abusive language against the United States, our soldiers, the war and things generally. Being a Russian he was instructed to observe and abide by the laws of this country or go back to Russia and fight. He was fined $23.65.

Don Fight was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct at the boarding house of Mrs. Elizabeth De Moss of No. 1 Twelfth street. Don had boarded at this place for ten years, and this was his second visit to police court on a simiar charge within a few weeks. The prosecutor stated he got several quarts of whiskey from the rear door of a hotel and took it to his room and ere long was insanely drunk and raising all kinds of trouble, frightening the woman and her children. His fine was $4.25.

STATE TROOPER IN STABBING AFFRAY

Alleged to have attempted to escape by stabbing State Trooper Nelson Smith early Sunday morning, Angelo Androse of Cardale was shot by Smith, the bullet entering the left lung. Androse and seven other men were being placed in automobiles to be taken to Uniontown after a raid on a club in Cardale, when Androse jumped from the machine, attacking Smith with a knife, according to the trooper. Both Androse and Smith were taken to the Uniontown hospital, where the former's condition was reported as serious. The seven other men arrested in the raid were taken to the Fayette county jail.

STRANGE MAN WANDERING IN MOUNTAINS

Members of Troop A, State Police, have taken into custody Matis Sabacovic, a Russian, aged 35, who was wandering aimlessly about in the mountains near Bedford. The man's hair and beard had not been trimmed for years He says that he came to this country in April, 1914; that he was "shanghaied" and shipped on a big sailing vessel which called at Port Said, Egypt, and then proceeded to the Far East, For months he was held a prisoner, eventually escaping. Some things that Matis said to the state police lead them to believe that he may have escaped from an internment camp.

SMALL FIRE LAST NIGHT

The fire alarm was sounded last night about 9:30. A small out building at the corner of Second and Schoonmaker avenue caught fire and burned to the ground. It made a glaring light and hundreds of people were soon on the scene. The crowd quickly dispersed when it was learned what was burning.

HIGH EXPLOSIVES

When there occurs a disaster in a munitions plant like the explosion at Perth Amboy, N. J., popular sentiment lays it to Hun spies. No doubt they have caused may tragedies. It will be safe for the secret service to act as if they caused them all. But that won't solve the whole problem.

Explosives are made up of substances, which when subjected to heat r certain kind of shock, promptly go to pieces, yielding mostly gaseous products and liberating large quantities of heat. These gases expanding with inconceivable rapidity create the power, which when confined within the barrel of a firearm, throws the bullet or shell a long distance.

The great practical difficulty, is in finding combinations that will be secure against change or deterioration until the moment comes to apply the heat or shock. Explosives are usually composed of substances that absorb heat when they are formed, and this heat is liberated when they decompose.

So it happens that if a small portion of these explosives begin to break down from any cause, heat is liberated, creating an explosion. Many of the mysterious disasters in munition plants resulted from this spontaneous decomposition. An instance of extreme liability is given by nitrogen iodide, which otherwise would have great possibilities in warfare. It will blow up if touched by a feather, and sometimes go off merely after friction with air when being moved from one place to another.

Considering our scientists are working with new combinations, it is remarkable that there have not been more explosions. These have seemed less frequent as the war has gone on. A great body of the best chemists are working on the problem of safeguarding our munition workers and our soldiers while handling these treacherous materials.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

If the old time study of arithmetic had little value for direct use in work, it did have other uses. Arithmetic, particularly mental arithmetic, makes people good reasoners. When we were given those old tanglers about how many sheep a man would have, if he had half as many again and so on, to be determined only after long and tortuous processes, a fellow had to do some thinging. The long practice on this type of problem made the graduatee of te Little Red School House mentally alert. The long examples in interest and fractions made them accurate. They learned to perform all processes with methodical precision, a gift that the graduates of modern schools do not always have.

For training in mental alertness and accuracy, arithmetic is one of the corner stones of practical education. Algebra and geometry are a great deal more serviceable and developing along this line than most people realize. Practical education means turning out young people who can think things out straight for themselves, and no subject is better for that than mathematics.

The old time schools overdid geography. It has some effect to broaden the mind. But the interminable memory work in learning the rivers of China and the mountains of South America was mostly lost time. Much of the information could be given as a reading lesson.

Old fashioned education placed great emphasis on teaching people to read with intelligent inflections and clear enunciation. It was a fine accomplishment, yet not very practical. The modern tendency toward written work leaves some educated people so they can not read anything without stumbling. We have gone from one extreme to the other. Practical education will not attempt to make its young folks elocutionists. But it will insist that they be able to read aloud so they can be understood.

DISCONTENT

Are you discontented? Then you've cause for self-congratulation. You are on the high-road to achievement. Poor indeed is the man who has never known the pleasurable pangs of discontent.

Beware of satisfaction. It produces stagnation and stagnation presages a vainglorious end. But likewise don't mistake dissatisfaction for discontent. The two represent opposites, extremes.

Dissatisfaction readily degenerates into fault-finding; it sloughs into pessimism and pointless, profitless, puerile picayunishness. Discontent has its origin in desire for betterment, improvement and advancement. It is founded on ideals and based on principles. Discontent marks the thinker. It is a badge of cranial quality. It sets men apart, adds to their stature in the eyes of their fellows, their community and the world, for success attends upon discontent. Discontent chafes beneath the restraint of environment, the force of circumstances and the handicap of conditions which restrict individual evolution.

Discontent produces added effort; awakens self to possibilities within that are even greater than those which aroused it. Discontent projects life upon the screen of realization. To each who experiences it, something of life's purpose is revealed—a glimpse usually sufficient to 'rouse inward defiance for all obstacles that would thwart the attainment of that newly-discovered true objective of existence!

Discontent discovered America; harnessed steam and electricity; learned the secret of power in the combustibility of gas. Discontent unfetters the oppressed and shackles the oppressor; discontent moves mountains; changes the course of rivers, builds railroads; erects factories—for discontent conceives projects, inventions, devices and methods. It is the signpost to progress!

Bass Lured by Bright Light.

Here is a fish story based on an occurrence at Pontoosuc lake, in Maine. A pair of bullhead fishermen were in a boat anchored some distance off Broadway and it was quite dark. Another boat with two men in it anchored a short distance away and the men began fishing. The first fish to be caught was a small rock bass. "Give me that fish," said the other. It was handed to him by the one who caught it and he threw it at one of the men in the other boat, whom he knew. The fish whizzed by this man's head and landed in the boat, on the bottom of which was a lighted lantern. "Gosh!" said the one who had nearly been hit, "where did that come from?" "I don't know," replied his companion. "It jumped right into the boat in trying to get near the light," and this story is going its rounds.

FOSTERED BY FRENCH KING

Famous Sevres Ware Had Its Beginning When It Favorably Attracted Attention of Louis.

Early in the eighteenth century the manufacture of a rather artificial-looking porcelain was begun at Rouen, France. At Chantilly, about the year 1725, a porcelain was made which imitated the Imari ware of Japan. Some 15 years later another factory was established at Vincennes, and now comes the beginning of the famous Sevres. It was in the year 1753, so historians interested in this subject tell us, that the king, Louis XV, who for the past five years had been making donations for the carrying on of the work, allowed the adjective "royal" to be added to the name of the work, and granted the use of two interlaced L's as a trademark. In order to keep a record of the porcelain made in different years, a scheme of lettering was arranged which, to the initiated, would tell the tale. For example, an A in the space between the two L's signified that the piece of porcelain thus marked was made in that year in which the king began to take an active interest in the work, 1753. Three years later the factory was removed from Vincennes to Sevres, and it is there that one may visit it today, over in one corner of the beautiful park of St. Cloud, not far from the Seine. And, in 1759, the king took it over as a state industry, to be managed henceforth as such.

Now, it happened that the making of porcelain appealed to Madame de Pompadour, and she did everything in her power to bring the Sevres product up to the highest possible artistic standard, to popularize the ware at court and throughout the country, and even throughout the whole of Europe. Among the beautiful colors which were employed in this ware, one of the loveliest was named for her, the "rose Pompadour."

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

HELP WANTED!

KEEP away from the flame of the candle if you don't want your wings singed is is proverb as old as the hills. So old we have almost forgotten to apply it to OURSELVES In every community men and women are imitating the moths. How many times have WE been singed by the fascination of that LONG DISTANCE bargain? And how many times have WE COME BACK, and back AGAIN, to the FLAME? How much MONEY is lost each year to this community by this same SINGEING process? The flame of the candle mounts higher. The moths crowd closer and closer to the flame. IT IS OUR BUSINESS TO PUT THAT FLAME OUT.

FOUR MINUTE MEN AIDING LIBERTY LOAN

Pennsylvania leads the country in making the "spoken word an instrument of victory." More than 6,000 four-minute men are in service in the speaking division of the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense, according to a report from that organization to W McCormick Blair, national chairman of the four-minute [illegible]

As there are about 42,000 four-minute men in the entire country, Pennsylvania alone possesses one-seventh of the nation's organized speaking forces The plan under which the Pennsylvania four minute men are boosting the sale of the fourth Liberty Loan carries an appeal to the remotest sections of the state.

Each of the 67 counties of Pennsylvania, the report shows, has its complete four-minute organization in charge of a chairman. The county chairmen are grouped in five districts under district directors and the complete organization is under control of the state director, Benjamin H Ludlow at state headquarters, Philadelphia

A motor car campaign is a feature of "carrying the message" The speakers reach even the cross-roads communities and hamlets So that no rural settlements may be overlooked, routing of the speaking tours is arranged with the help of the government Geodetic Survey maps, which are supplied to chairmen These maps show the location of every dwelling in the state, and it is one job of the four minute men to get a bond argument to households, no matter how remote.

Pershing veterans from the fighting front and sailors in full service equipment, it is stated, accompany the speakers on tours, to convey the war atmosphere to places where the United States uniform is rarely seen and where a look at a real fighting man is something of an inspiration

War films are shown and one of the strongest subscription appeals is made through reference in each community to the individual fighting its boys are doing "somewhere in France"

Died

Mrs. Bertha Hornack, aged about 24 years, wife of Michael Hornack, died at 3 o'clock Sunday morning at the sanitorium at Cresson Mrs Hornack was taken to the sanitorium only a few days ago in the hope of regaining her health, and the sad message of her death came as a complete shock to her many friends and relatives. Mr Hornack left immediately for Cresson where he made preparations for the shipment of the body to Monessen

Mrs Hornack was well liked and widely known, both in this city and Donora where she made her home prior to her marriage two years ago, and the deepest sympathy of neighbors and the community goes out to the grief stricken husband. The young woman had been in bad health for several months past and owing to this, Mr and Mrs Hornack made their home with Mr and Mrs Andrew Neuser of Lenawee avenue

The body will be taken to the home of Mr Hornack's mother on Senaca street, from where the funeral will take place, the time to be announced later The funeral will be in accordance with the state health laws now in effect, due to the influenza epidemic.

Mrs Frank Smith died at 12 o'clock Sunday night of double pneumonia after one week's sickness, aged 32 years Deceased resides in Columbus, O., and came here five weeks ago to visit her mother Mrs Gough, at the corner of Fourth and Donner Deceased is the wife of Frank Smith, who four or five years ago operated the Central restaurant, near the Motz Lumber Co office, and both are well known to Monessen people. The interment will be in the Belle Vernon cemetery, the former home of Mr Smith.

Jesse, the five years old son of Mr and Mrs Pete Masseto of 254 Sixth street, met with a painful accident Sunday morning. It is not just known how it happened as the child won't tell, but it is supposed he fell from a chair, striking his mouth in some way, as the teeth had cut clear through the lower lip. The services of a doctor were required and two or three stitches were needed in dressing the wound.

A MOTHER PROVES THE CLAIMS OF "TEN-HERBS" MAN

Pittsburgh Lady Tells How Ten-Herbs Restored Her Son to Good Health

Among the many local people who are endorsing Ten-Herbs, the new herbal stomach remedy, is the mother of one of Pittsburgh's prominent athletic young men.

MRS JENNIE COOK

Mrs. Jennie Cook, of No 6216 Butler street, Pittsburgh, who has a wide acquaintance in this city, is glad to tell how her son was relieved, and relates the following interesting story:

"My son, who has been very prominent in all out-door sports, was troubled with his stomach for some time; he could not digest his food, and it fermented in his stomach and caused gas to form; he was badly run down in health and tried many different medicines, which did not do him any good. He was advised to try Ten-Herbs and did so. Now he is feeling fine, and it has relieved his stomach and he is able to digest his food. He has been able to resume his athletic sports again, as well as his daily work, and I join with him in endorsing Ten-Herbs"

Ten-Herbs is purely vegetable and is composed of the most beneficial herbs, roots, barks and berries known to science It is pure and harmless, and can be taken by both old and young with perfect safety, in ills of the stomach, liver and kidneys.

Ten-Herbs is sold in Monessen at the Central Pharmacy. 1t

BANKS ARE LOANING AT LOW INTEREST RATE FOR BONDS

NINETY-DAY LOANS AND THEN RENEWALS ARE GRANTED TO STIMULATE BUYING.

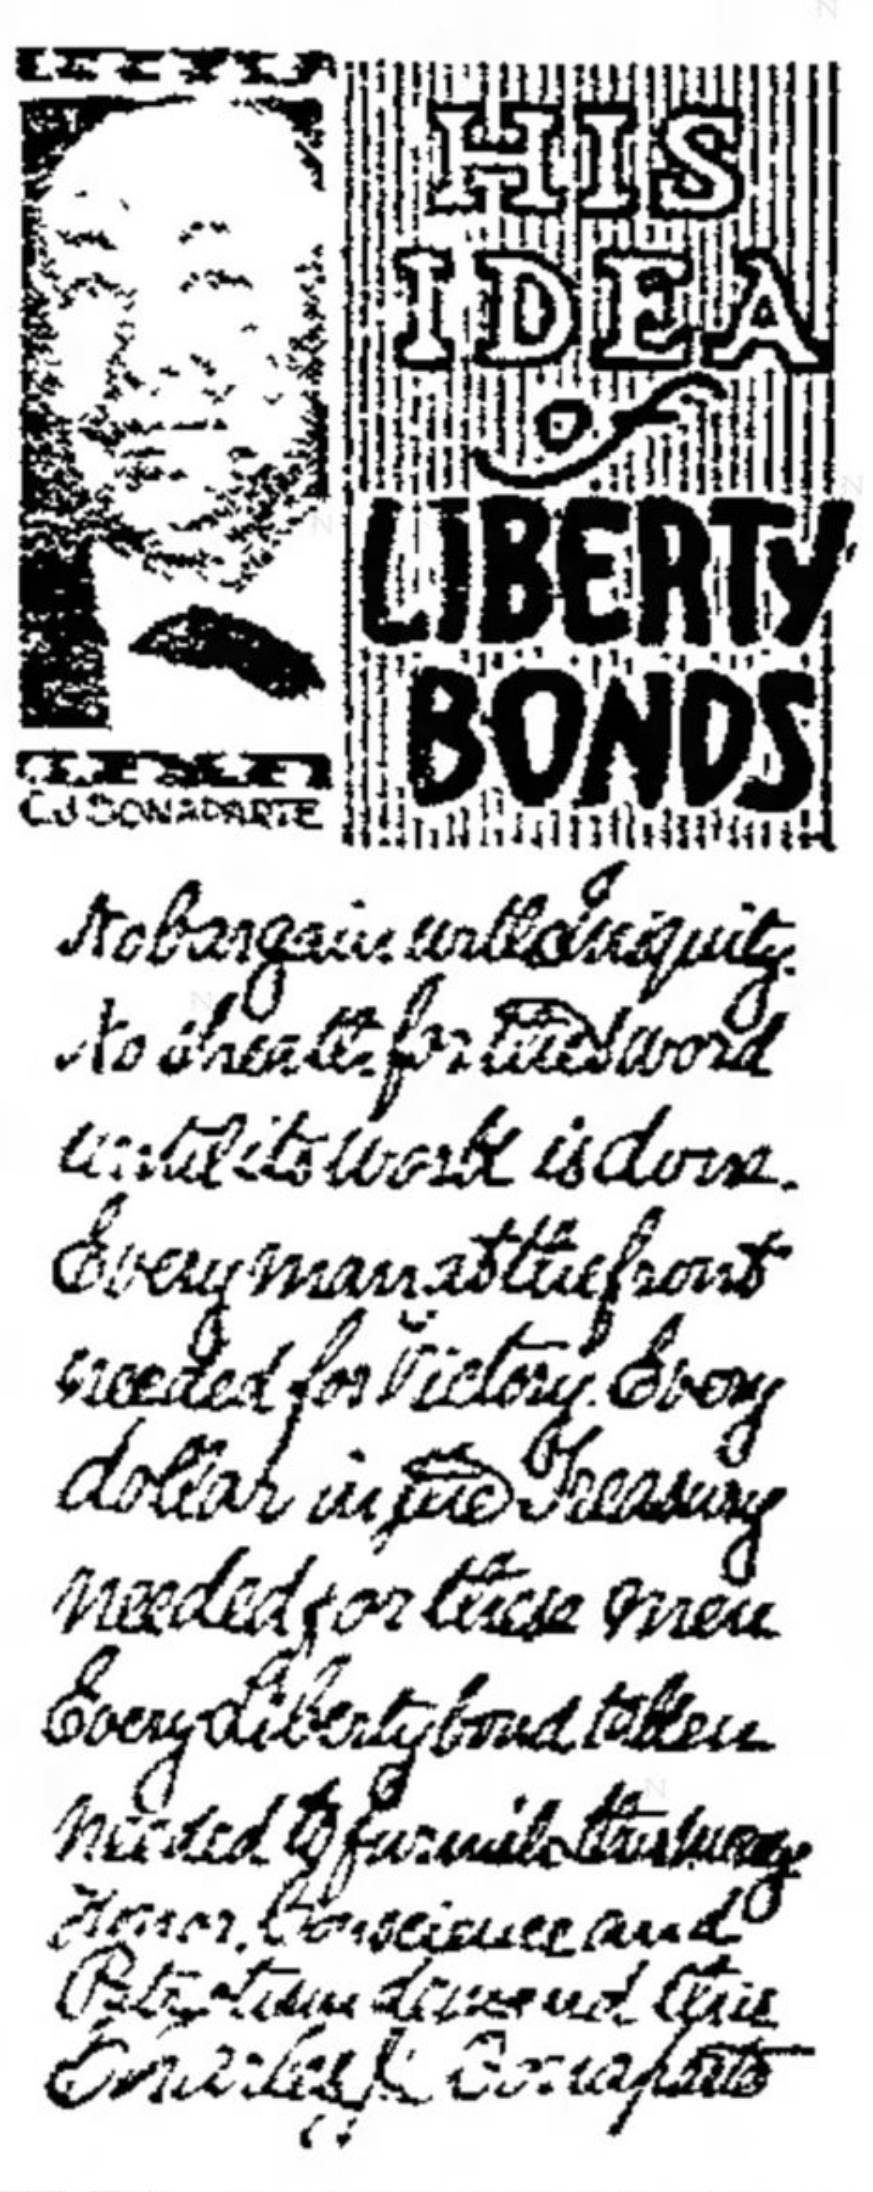
The banks and trust companies of Cleveland have made a big concession to prospective bond buyers in the hope of stimulating larger purchases of Liberty Bonds—which we simply must have if we are not to fail in this Fourth Liberty Loan

It is the earnest hope of the Central Liberty Loan Committee of this Fourth Federal Reserve District that every bank and trust company in the district follow the plan which the Cleveland banks have announced.

The Cleveland banks make loans up to 90 per cent of the par value of subscriptions for ninety days from October 24th on bonds purchased through their institutions The interest rate is the bond coupon rate—4¼ per cent.

Then the banks agree to renew such loans at the expiration of the ninety days for another period of ninety days if the loan has been sufficiently reduced to indicate the good intent of the subscriber. The interest rate on the ninety-day renewal is only one-half of 1 per cent in excess of the Federal Reserve bank's discount rate on such loans While the Federal Reserve bank's discount rate is subject to slight change from time to time, it stands right now at 4¼ per cent.

The loans made by the Cleveland banks are not going to be allowed to interfere with the borrower's regular line of credit at the bank. The terms are made simply to encourage larger subscriptions.



HIS IDEA of LIBERTY BONDS

CJ BONAPARTE

No bargain with iniquity. No sheath for the sword until its work is done. Every man at the front needed for victory. Every dollar in the treasury needed for these men. Every Liberty bond taken needed to furnish the money. Honor, Conscience and Patriotism demand this. Charles J. Bonaparte

Resources of Federal Reserve Bank System More Than Half Billion

The Liberty Loans are fast turning one of Cleveland's biggest office buildings into a bank When the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland took quarters in the building on the Public Square the rooms were confined to a ground floor banking room and vaults in the basement.

As the loans came along the bank branched out little by little until now it has half the ground floor space of the building and some department or other on almost every floor

As an indication of the phenomenal growth of the Federal Reserve Bank system the fact is cited that since state banks have been admitted to membership in the system there have been 56 such institutions taken in. These banks give a total of resources to the system of $503,278,000.

"Where We Goin', Boys?—Berlin!"

HERE'S a Yank and a brother Yank making themselves at home in a new direct-to-the-Rhine hansom.

How did they get it? They commandeered it—exactly as they'll do when they chirp. "Home, Hans!" to the first taxi driver met unter den Linden

The hansom shown in the official war photograph was taken in a recaptured village on the Western Front.

"A bit war-worn, this rig," says one of the Yanks, "but what's a little wear in these days?"

But how are the roads to be smoothed out so that the Yanks and their millions of fellows will have a thoroughfare to the Imperial Shanty?

You've guessed the answer—Liberty Bonds! Liberty Bonds! Liberty Bonds!
